

CHRYSANTHEMUMS.

BEAUTY, BRILLIANCY AND GORGEOUSNESS OF THE GREAT SHOW NOW BEING HELD IN RALEIGH.

Nearly Two-Hundred Varieties of the Gorgeous Indian Summer Flower—A Gloriously Beautiful Show and a Grand Success.

The CHRONICLE for some days past has been predicting a marvellous floral display for Raleigh people when the annual chrysanthemum show should be opened.

The show is here. It is superb. It surpasses all anticipations and expectations. The CHRONICLE didn't promise the public half enough. It didn't know what was really in store for the people. The people won't know what is there either if they don't go down to see it. Its beauty and elegance and delicacy and general attractiveness can't be portrayed on paper.

The ladies of Raleigh have been arranging the display for the past two days. This statement, with the fact that they have at command the loveliest and most beautiful specimens of the chrysanthemums that grow beneath the skies, will suffice to intimate to the public that the show is something not to be missed.

Of course it has been on everybody's list for the past week or two and it won't be missed—that is nobody who appreciates a good thing will miss it. The opening day was yesterday and it will be continued to-day. This is done in response to a general demand of those who have seen the show and appreciate its beauties.

The Exhibits.

The CHRONICLE does not propose to give a detailed account and description of the exhibits. "The thing can't be did."

But among the noticeable displays are the following: Miss Jennie Coffin, of St. John's Hospital, shows a great variety and in such great profusion as to require one of the great show windows for the display. The many varieties shown are very artistically arranged and excite admiration from every body.

Another immense show window is wholly taken up by Mrs. J. B. Batchelor's exhibit. As many as fifty varieties are shown, and their arrangement and bestowal are superb. Among the features is a large pyramid over which is suspended an immense floral bell.

The North Carolina College of Agriculture and the Mechanic Arts makes a superb exhibit of one hundred and fifty varieties. These are prettily arranged in glass tumblers on a long table, each variety standing separate and showing its own beauties.

Mr. H. Steinmetz, the Raleigh florist, shows a large variety—all growing in jars and pots. The choicest specimens are shown in his exhibit. Each specimen is neatly labeled and the display holds a large and interested gathering of people around it.

One of the most beautifully and artistically arranged exhibits is that of Mrs. W. T. Tucker, who shows 70 varieties. They are in glass jars and tumblers, which stand in a bed of rich and multi-colored autumn leaves, and the same beautiful tints of the Indian summer ornament the wall against which the table stands, and also the cloth drapery which extends below the table. Some of the loveliest specimens imaginable stand in this group, among them one which was originated this season by Mrs. Tucker and to which she has given the name "Pride of Raleigh." It is a rich-looking and delicate variety, beautifully blending the colors of lilac and cream. It has attracted much attention and elicited great admiration.

Mrs. Julius Lewis has a beautiful display, and shows the richest specimen of the highly colored varieties in the entire exhibit. The varieties she shows are not so numerous, but are of the most beautiful specimens.

The loveliest and most delicate single specimen is shown by Mrs. Dr. V. E. Turner, being a "Mrs. Cleveland." Its development and richness and delicacy are perfect. It is an indescribable beauty and wins the warmest admiration. Mrs. Turner also shows other choice specimens.

Miss Milliken shows a rich yellow specimen which is direct from China. It is well developed and is very beautiful. Mrs. F. L. Mahler shows a collection worked into a rain-bow design and the effect is charming.

A very pretty exhibit is made by Mrs. J. S. West. This is a beautiful pyramid made of sixty-six varieties of the chrysanthemum and bears a card showing the following: "To be presented to Joseph Daniels, Esq."

There are a great many other exhibits—all of them gloriously beautiful—among which are noted:

Mrs. R. H. Whitaker, forty-five varieties.

Mrs. V. C. Royster, thirty-five varieties.

Mrs. W. W. Smith shows fifty beautiful specimens elegantly arranged in an immense salver.

Miss Stella Jordan, twenty-five varieties. And from ten to twenty varieties each by Mrs. Omega Foster, Mrs. T. W. Dobbin, Miss Nannie Boon, Mrs. Dr. Jas. McKee, Mrs. Wm. Little, Mrs. G. M. Allen, Mrs. Dr. R. H. Lewis, Mrs. J. M. Sherwood, Miss Narcissa Hutchings, Mrs. Dr. T. E. Skinner, Mrs. Jno. D. Briggs, Mrs. R. E. Williams and others.

The exhibit hall is one glorious and immense riot and confusion of every color that can be accepted by the eye. The walls are covered with the flowers and are kaleidoscopic in appearance.

Beautiful banks and clusters of the beauties of the floral kingdom confront one at every turn and keep one in a constant state of wonder and admiration.

Besides the special exhibits of chrysanthemums, there are shown choice roses, and here and there may be seen such rare plants as the "Areca Bulia," "Scarfortia Elegans," &c., &c.

These are some facts about the show. One half has not been told.

Open To-Day.

Remember that the show will be open to-day and to-night. Lunch will be served during the day and evening and the choicest delicacies and viands are dispensed by the ladies.

The show is for the benefit of St. John's Hospital.

AN APPEAL FOR LIFE.

The Counsel for Willie Davis Appeals To His Relatives and Friends in North Carolina for Relief.

The readers of the CHRONICLE were last week made acquainted with the case of Willie Davis, a native of Chapel Hill, who is now under sentence of death in Texas. He has relatives in Raleigh, Winston and in Buncombe and Orange counties. His lawyer, Mr. Brown G. Johnson, of Fort Worth, Texas, has taken an appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States, and is willing to do all that he can to save Davis' life. The cost of the transcript in the case will be one hundred and twenty-five dollars. The lawyer writes that he has done and is doing all that he can for Davis, but he is not able to take money from his own pocket to conduct the case.

Mr. Julian S. Carr has already sent Davis $200, which was spent in the defense. Mr. Johnson writes that if Davis' friends in North Carolina will pay the cost of the transcript, he will do all he can to save Davis free of charge. December 5th is the last day allowed for Mr. Johnson to pay for the transcript and send it to the Supreme court of the United States.

Now who will help to save a human life? Action must be taken quickly. If the amount is raised it must be done at once. The Durham Globe has opened a subscription list and has secured $26.

The CHRONICLE will receive subscriptions and see them promptly forwarded. Would you like your friends to notice an appeal like this if you were in Davis' situation? I don't it worth $125 to try to save a human life? Let responses be quick, friends. Come out at once.

In response to the appeal already made, the following subscriptions have been made at the CHRONICLE office:

Marriages.

The Wilmington Messenger says:

Probably the largest assemblage that ever gathered in St. James Episcopal church was there last evening to witness the marriage of the Hon. J. W. Harris, a prominent lawyer of Cartersville, Ga., to Miss Annie DeRosset, daughter of Capt. A. L. DeRosset, of this city.

The music was furnished by Professor Greenwald who played the wedding march, and by the choir boys who sang a beautiful wedding hymn. The bride approached the altar leaning upon the arm of her father, and Mr. Guy C. Hamilton, of Athens, Ga., occupying the post of best man, accompanied the groom. The maid of honor was Miss Louise DeRosset, sister of the bride, and the bridesmaids were Misses Callie Reid French, Carrie Myers, Augusta McPherson, and Sarah Lippitt. The ribbon boys were Masters Nash DeRosset, Louis Myers, Clarence French, and Victor Boatwright, and the ushers were Messrs. Kirkland Huske, D. H. Lippitt, Armand Myers and Robert DeRosset.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Robert Strange, assisted by the Rev. Dr. Carmichael, of St. John's church. The bride received a large number of costly and elegant presents.

Mr. E. P. Boatwright, of Wilmington, and Miss Fannie Hall, daughter of Mr. Greer H. Baughman, of Richmond, Va., were married in St. Paul's church in that city yesterday evening at 5 o'clock. Among those who attended the wedding were Messrs. J. Harry Boatwright, D. T. Cronly, John W. Bolles and Walker Taylor, of Wilmington, and Mr. H. C. Gedney, of New York.

Colonel Polk's Cane Lost.

Colonel L. L. Polk, President of the National Alliance, has lost a handsome ebony, gold-headed walking cane. It was lost on the train that came into Atlanta from Charlotte, on the 28th of last month.

Colonel Polk is anxious to find his cane, as it was a gift from the citizens of Raleigh and he prized it very highly. It bore the inscription:

"To L. L. Polk, The People's Friend, 1890."

Will the finder kindly send the cane by express to 329 North Capitol street, Washington, D. C.

THE NOVELTY NOOK.

RALEIGH IN BRIEF.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS IN AND AROUND THE CAPITAL.

Short Items of News Gathered on the Fly by the Chronicle's Reporters.

Al Henderson's minstrels will be here on the 18th inst.

The chrysanthemum show will be open to-day and to-night.

You can get a good lunch at the chrysanthemum show to-day.

Active work is being done, the result of which will be the connecting of Raleigh with Durham by a telephone line.

If we are to pass the coming winter under the present unsatisfactory street lighting system, for Heaven's sake give us good sidewalks.

Chrysanthemum shows were held last night in Durham, Goldsboro, Wilmington and Raleigh. Of course Raleigh's show surpassed them all.

The chamber of commerce and the board of aldermen both seem shy about the "improved sidewalks" matter. They don't go for it with gloves off.

Professor Holmes' Mineralogy class of the State University left yesterday morning on an exploring tour for a few days through Egypt, Chatham county.

More large engines are arriving at the R. & G. shops for the G. C. and N. road. Some engines and a lot of rolling stock for the Egypt coal railroad are also passing through.

The Durham Globe's fund to help Willie Davis amounts to $52.25. Raleigh ought to come forward. Read the statement of the case elsewhere and let yourself be heard from.

The gas lamp established at the bridge on Hillsboro street by the board of aldermen is not performing the duties for which it was erected. It is lighted but seldom. Whose duty is it to light it?

The regular monthly meeting of Hook and Ladder Co. No. 1, will be held to-night at 7:30 o'clock. Every member is earnestly requested to be present, as business of importance will come up for transaction.

A business man said yesterday that as soon as the G. & N. road was completed, the next thing would be the erection of a big hotel here by a Northern syndicate. Those yankies are sharp people. They keep their eyes on nearly everything.

The first Monday in December every office holder in Wake county will be a progressive Democrat. Let the Board of Aldermen the first Friday night in December for ever settle the Street Light question, and take some action with regard to improved sidewalks.

The big floral show will be open to-day and to-night. The ladies in charge desire a contribution of snowball cakes as a specialty. Any other contributions will also be appreciated, and those who have promised contributions are respectfully asked to send them in to-day as quickly as possible.

The Board of Health will take active steps towards enforcing the health ordinances. It is certainly the duty of the city physicians to take a lively interest in the Local Board of Health and promptly make such reports as the law requires of them and not wait for process of law to enforce the health ordinances.

The Main Line is Coming.

We said we had some new cloaks, something like a car load. So we have, but the larger part of our stock of cloaks has not arrived yet. They will come to-day, we think. They have been shipped. As soon as they arrive we will open them. When we get the entire stock you will wonder if we can ever sell so many. You may not need a cloak; you come to see ours. We show you a cloak which you would not expect us to offer for less than $25. We offer it to you at $12.50. You are amazed, ask it to be sent up at once. We send it. Two or three friends at your house see it and think it beautiful; ask price; you name it. They are amazed. They ask, "Where did you buy it?" "At Swindell's." So it is, our goods advertise themselves. You wonder how we buy these goods and sell them so far below other houses. It's a secret. We have them and we sell them to you sometimes for $5 or $6 less than the same goods are offered you elsewhere. That ought to satisfy any one. We will say, by way of explanation, that we do not "hook" them, except with American coin.

AT SWINDELL'S.

THE WORLD'S COMMERCE.

New York, November 13.—Messrs. Hubbard, Price & Company in their cotton circular to-night say: "The market to-day evidences a growing change of sentiment with regard to the prices of cotton. The trading here at the opening was about on the basis of last night's prices. From this there was a reception of some points and a subsequent improvement that gathered strength as it progressed, the closing being firm at about 3 points above last night. After the close, trading on the curb was at a further advance of 2 points. Liverpool opened 2 points higher, but evidently is not in sympathy with the more confident tone prevailing here, as 1-64 of this advance was lost before the close."

Receipts at the ports to-day were estimated 40,000 bales, against 43,471 bales last week and 44,149 bales last year. The spot market is steady at former quotations; middling uplands 9-5-8; sales 478 bales.

Transactions in futures to-day were 102,000 bales.

New York Money Market.

New York, Nov. 13.—Money closed comparatively close to-day, most of the business being done as high as 12 per cent. The lowest rate was 2 and the closing 4. Exchange closed steady; quoted rates 4.80@4.85; actual rates 4.75@4.79 for 60 days and 4.84@4.85 for demand. Governments closed steady; currency notes 113 bid; four (coupons) 122 bid; four-and-a-half (coupons) 104 bid.

The suspension of the North River Bank just before the close of business yesterday, notwithstanding the clearing house associations efforts, together with a report that the affairs of the North American company were such that the concern would have to be wound up, had a depressing effect on Wall Street this morning. But later, when it became known that the fortnightly settlements in London had been completed without a failure and that the Bank of England's rate of discount remained unchanged at 6 per cent, instead of being advanced to 7 as was feared in London yesterday and also that the rate for money in the open market there remained steady at 5 1/2 per cent. There was a general recovery and by 11:30 nearly every stock on the list except North American was up to last night's prices, and many of them above, notably Northern Pacific preferred, Reading, Western Union, Rock Island, Northwestern and several others. The conspicuous feature of the morning's dealings on exchange was North American. When the exchange opened there was a howling mob of several hundred brothers struggling to sell that stock and large blocks were unloaded on a rapidly declining price. The North American company was formed in June last out of the old Oregon transcontinental company, and started out on its new life under brilliant auspices. At the time the stock sold at 52. This morning the company is a wreck, its stock selling down to 7. Last night it closed at 18 1/2, consequently at the low point this morning it had dropped 11 1/2 per cent. Its weakness for a while had a depressing tendency on the general market, but the other stocks soon cut loose and began to advance. Even the Northern Pacific stocks, which were the chief holdings of the North American company were not greatly affected. Before 11 o'clock North American had rallied 4 3/4 per cent. Some idea of the dealing in the stock can be gleaned from the fact that in the first thirty minutes 4500 shares of it were sold. The par value of the capital stock of the North American company is $40,000,000, but how much actual assets the Capital stock represents is good only for conjecture. One estimate places the liabilities of the company at $12,000,000. This stated however, that the assets of the company will more than cover its liabilities at present prices. The officers of the company issued a notice to day stating that it had no outstanding obligation, that its time loans were held by comparatively few persons and institutions of great financial strength, that they are abundantly secured by collateral, which, even at the present panic prices, would realize enough to pay all obligations and leave a surplus; that in a word the company was perfectly solvent, and that it had made no assignment and did not intend to take any such step.

The market steadily strengthened after the first half hour and at noon values were generally 1-8 to 2 per cent. higher than the closing of yesterday. The sales for the morning amounted to 264,800 shares.

The early afternoon found the market still generally firm at or near the highest point of the day. North American, which fell off from 11 to 9 just before noon, recovered the decline by one o'clock. The Gould stocks and granges were steady to strong, but without special feature. No more unfavorable rumors were started, and on the whole the market had taken on its normal aspect during the hour from 1 to 2 o'clock. Shortly after 2 o'clock, however, the market began to waver again, and almost immediately broke sharply Northern Pacific preferred which had been held so strong under adverse circumstances, dropped under a heavy unloading and amidst the most intense excitement from 63 to 57 1/2. The other stocks also seemed to have been struck by a sudden chill and dropped 1 to 4 points. Toward the close there was a rally to 62 in Northern Pacific preferred, but it was not fully maintained. The stock closing at 39 5 8 bid. The general list closed in most cases 1 to 3 per cent. higher. The market closed barely steady, notwithstanding the fact that money was plentiful at 4 per cent. The principal reason for the ease in the monetary situation was the heavy shipment of gold by the Bank of France to the Bank of England which relieved the stringency in London. The sales for the day amounted to 632 103 shares.
